Adventure Plants

These plants are not guaranteed over the winter. But be adventurous!

Successfully growing plants that are marginally hardy for the area, or are a little difficult to grow can be one of the most rewarding aspects of gardening. All of the plants on this list have been successfully grown in east Idaho, but they may require special care or a protected location.

Due to the challenging nature of growing these plants (because of our cold winters, alkaline soil conditions, or other challenges) we are not able to guarantee them against winter kill, but they are guaranteed for 60 days (90 days for Advantage Club members.)

Remember, climates can vary considerably within eastern Idaho- with established neighborhoods being more protected than farmsteads in the country or on the bench where they are fully exposed to the wind and cold. Some plants may be very suitable in protected locations. Others may be more difficult. Consult with a salesperson for any special care these plants may require.

This is not a complete list. All Adventure Plants are tagged with red "Adventure Plant" tags. Watch for them when you are selecting your plants, but don't be afraid to be adventurous!
